

Lego Club - October 28, 2014

Fall is definitely upon us! The trees are displaying their finery, apples and pumpkins abound, and there is a nip in the air. Now is the perfect time to get out the flannel blankets, make a warming fire in the woodstove, and gather your supplies from the Clyde Public Library!

You may love nothing better than a good book to help you pass the cooler hours. Look no further than the library's extensive collection! We have books for everyone, from age 0 to 100; from fiction to non-fiction to graphic novels; from romance to science fiction to westerns to mysteries. Come explore our stacks to find your perfect book!

Or, you may enjoy snuggling up on the couch and watching a movie. The library has all the newest releases and biggest hits, along with some independent films that may have missed your radar. Come peruse our collection and find an engaging flick!

But if the weather forces you to stay indoors, are you doomed to spend your days bored? Of course not! Check out the eMedia available through the library's website at www.ClydeLibrary.org. A huge collection of ebooks, digital audiobooks, music, and videos are waiting for you, and all you need is your library card (and a computer, tablet, or smartphone, of course)!

No matter the weather, the library is here for you. Visit us today!

Book Page Christmas Ornaments Program at the Clyde Public Library

We will be teaching you how to make four ornaments made from the pages of old books on November 12 at 6:30 p.m. Staff members, Jill and Christie, will lead you through the cutting, pasting and folding of each ornament, and you will be able to take the patterns and a book home with you to make more! Registration is required and space is limited for this free program. Please call the Clyde Public Library to sign up at 419-547-7174.

Northwest Ohio and the Civil War - November 13 at 7 p.m.

Presented by author and local historian Larry Michaels, "Northwest Ohio and the Civil War" will cover historical figures, including Hayes, McPherson, and Steedman, and their involvement in the events of the Civil War. Also included will be information on the prison at Johnson's Island and on Captain Charles McCleary, from Clyde, who won a Medal of Honor for his actions at the Battle of Nashville on December 15, 1864. Registration is requested for this free program, which is co-sponsored by the Clyde Heritage League; refreshments will be served. Please call the Library at 419-547-7174 to sign up.

DIRECTOR'S PICK

"Yes Please" by Amy Poehler

Amy Poehler rides a wave of ironic, yet upbeat humor. In this much-awaited debut, the multi-talented celeb writes with winning candor about sundry topics under the sun including, but not limited to, her experiences as a child of two Massachusetts teacher parents, early career calamities, television fame, movie fortune, and family happiness. —Barnes & Noble

The star of Parks and Recreation shares stories from her adolescence, her star-making tenure at Saturday Night Live and her abiding love of improvisation. In her debut book, comedian Poehler credits her approach to work to Carol Burnett, who was "funny and versatile and up for anything" and "a benevolent captain" on her eponymous variety show. The author's successful career proves that collaboration, good manners and gratitude are assets in both business and life. She has written a happy, angst-free memoir with stories told without regret or shame; rather, Poehler provides a series of lessons learned about achieving success through ambition and a resolute spirit. Poehler is especially grateful to her proud, comical parents and shares their wisdom with readers: "Make sure he's grateful to be with you," "Ask for what you want" and "Always overtip". This is not a treacly self-help book or spiritual guide but rather motivation from a hilarious and kindhearted champion. A wise and winning - and polite - memoir and manifesto. —Kirkus Reviews

Staff Favorite from Deb Meyer

The Magnesium Miracle by Carolyn Dean, M.D., N.D.

Almost two decades ago, a government study concluded the standard American diet failed to provide the daily requirements of magnesium. Today most people get even less, when junk food makes up 27 percent of our diets. To top it all off, our farmland has become magnesium deficient due to farming practices since World War II. What this means to most of us is that our bodies become magnesium deficient, causing all sorts of complications.

I was looking for something to give me relief for cramps and muscle spasms that frequently wake me up at night or when trying to relax after work. A co-worker told me to look at magnesium oil and see what I thought of the benefits it provided. You can spray it on topically to absorb into the skin, and for me it does relax the muscles. You can buy magnesium flakes, dissolve in boiling distilled water and use as a spray. You can judge for yourself. Pick up the The Magnesium Miracle, a very interesting read about this all important mineral for proper body function.
