3D Printer on Loan at the Library through June

The Library will have a Cube 3D printer available for the public to use during June. The Printer is on loan from the Northwest Regional Library System – NORWELD – which purchased two printers that are circulating among member libraries. Since a design file must be provided to the Library, either on flash drive or sent by email, please see the Library's webpage for the specific requirements. Printing can take a lot of time – a cell phone case takes up to two hours – and you do not have to remain in the Library while the printing is going on. A fee will be charged for printing, based on the amount of filament used.

Teen Programming Ends with a Lock In!

Teens are encouraged to participate in Reading Rules!! Summer Reading and in SPLAT - Summer Public Library Activities for Teens. Teens can perform activities to earn points. When 500 points are collected, they are eligible to attend the Library Lock In on Friday, July 31.

Teens can register now for Teen Summer Reading at the Adult Desk upstairs to get their bag of swag and free books (first come, first served - supplies are limited).

SPLAT starts June 18 and runs every Thursday through July 30 from 3 - 4:30 p.m. There is no registration for SPLAT, just show up. We have a variety of activities planned, including a lot of games of all types. Visit clydesplat.blogspot.com and scroll through the posts to get the details on these programs.

Studies claim that reading (or bibliotherapy) can help reverse symptoms of depression, by activating the frontal lobes of the brain.

Director's Pick

In the Unlikely Event

by Judy Blume

"There is no surprise that [In the Unlikely Event] is smoothly written, and its story compelling. The setting—the early 1950s—is especially well realized. . . A new Blume novel will always be big news." —Booklist (starred review)

"The three fatal plane crashes that hit Elizabeth, N.J., during the winter of 1951–52 are the inspiration for Elizabeth-native Blume's latest adult novel (the first since 1998's Summer Sisters), in which young and old alike must learn to come to terms with technological disaster and social change. . . Maintaining her knack for personal detail, Blume mixes Miri's familiar coming-of-age melodrama with an exploration of how disasters test character, alter relationships, and reveal undercurrents of a seemingly simple world. She evokes '50s music, ethnic neighborhoods, and Las Vegas in the early days, while posing the question, how do individuals, families, and communities, deal with disaster? . . . Her novel is characteristically accessible, frequently charming, and always deeply human. " — Publishers Weekly

"...Blume has threaded these lives together in an essential way and given every one of them importance...Devastating secrets are uncovered, moving love stories play out or fade to black. Blume, whose fiction for adults has the same emotional immediacy as her books for children, makes us feel the pure shock and wonder of living, the ways we get through catastrophe—and the ways we fail. But our connections might save us. "Terrible things can happen in this life but being in love changes everything," one character says. We are all passengers in this world, Blume suggests, fastening our seatbelts, hoping we reach our desired destinations and bracing for what comes next." — New York Times Book Review

from Christie Armstrong

As I was deciding upon a favorite, I almost forgot the one that I use everyday - Swagbucks. A brief description of the site:

"Swagbucks.com is the leading destination for earning real rewards through online activities you already do every day. At home or on the go, you can conveniently earn Swagbucks when you: shop your favorite stores, search the web, answer surveys; discover great deals; watch videos; or play games. Swagbucks can be redeemed easily for cash or gift cards to your favorite stores. With over 13 million members, Swagbucks.com has awarded over 85 million dollars in real rewards. Always free to join, Swagbucks.com is the smartest and most rewarding way to spend your time online. Swagbucks is a subsidiary of Prodege LLC and is based in Los Angeles, California."

I earn Swagbucks by visiting my favorite websites each day using the Swagbucks search engine in the search bar (I don't use bookmarks to get there). There are other ways to turn your Swagbucks into "money", but when I have earned 500 Swagbucks, I purchase an Amazon Gift Card (digital credit) worth $5.00. Once I receive the gift card credit notification in my email, I apply it to my Amazon account to accrue for a future purchase. If I want to make a purchase at Amazon, I make sure and use Swagbucks to search for Amazon's site. I earn extra Swagbucks from some Amazon items. Since I shop a lot on Amazon, it's nice to have some money to purchase gifts or items that we need. I was able to purchase my refurbished Amazon Kindle Fire with my Swagbucks costing me $0! To date I have earned $290 worth of Swagbucks.

There are other ways to earn points besides searching: take short surveys, use their mobile app, Swagbucks TV, to watch movie previews and follow them on Twitter because they do share Swagbucks codes where you can win additional Swagbucks. You can put as much time into it as you like. To me, it is an effortless way to earn some extra pocket money.
